

BY LASSEN EXPANDS THE ICONIC KUBUS COLLECTION

Architect Mogens Lassen's classic candleholder, Kubus, is an essential part of Danish design history, and now it is our great pleasure to present Kubus 8 in a beautiful nickel-plated version.

In 1962 the local artisans in Ordrup completed work on the very first Kubus candleholders. At that time, Kubus was reserved exclusively for close friends, architect colleagues and Mogens Lassen's own family. Today, Kubus with its distinctive square shape is an international design icon cherished by connoisseurs the world over.

Kubus 8 is an outstanding example of Mogens Lassen's love of playing with mathematical proportions and expression, and when Line was conceived on the same basis in 1983, the collection was completed.

The nickel-plated candleholder is a stunning fusion of the timeless and the modern – a classic on any table. Kubus 8 and Line are available in nickel-plated steel versions in shops from November 2015.
